

Public Use of Museum of Underwater Art

The Museum of Underwater Art Ltd. (MOUA) is a not for profit community company committed to inspiring reef conservation through educational tourism experiences.

MOUA has installed two private commercial moorings at the John Brewer Reef and these are available for Commercial operators and for Recreational vessels. The two moorings are identifiable on site by the following mooring tags.

The MOUA Fore and Aft mooring is intended for priority use by commercial tourism operators with bookings.

Commercial Tourism Operators will operate on a schedule over seven days per week. If there is no commercial vessel present, or booked for private MOUA private moorings, they may be used by recreational vessels.

The single mooring is the preferred for Public Recreational use for vessels up to 20m in wind speeds up to 25knots. If Recreational vessels use the MOUA Ltd private moorings a fee of $15 per person is payable to MOUA as a donation. This is an honouree system and should be donated online at the MOUA website www.moua.com.au

Neither mooring is suitable in wind speed above 25 knots. Recreational vessels may also anchor (on sand and at least 50m from moorings) or maintain a boat driver and drop-off SCUBA divers \ snorkelers at the site. There are a further two public moorings nearby at John Brewer Reef.
